

Please do not jeopardize the Wisconsin No Call list. It is working well for those of us who are enrolled. No corporation, bank or business group should be allowed to infringe on this statewide consumer protection initiative. Businesses can continue to reach people by mail, allowing the consumer to respond or not, according to an individuals' own agenda and timetable. I am not including my email address or phone number in this message because I give those out to whom I select.